

Your trust in public administration is measured with a separate question series at the end of the Consumer Confidence Survey

In connection with the Consumer Confidence Survey in August 2020, Statistics Finland will examine the trust of people resident in Finland in the Finnish public administration, now that the initial phase of the coronavirus pandemic and the economic crisis is nearing its end. The inquiry is carried out on assignment of the Ministry of Finance and the OECD. You are one of the respondents selected to the survey.

Responding is important

- Statistical data used in international comparisons are formed based on the responses. In order for the data to represent the views of people living in Finland correctly, your response is needed.

Participating is easy

- The questions related to trust are asked immediately after the questions of the Consumer Confidence Survey. Responding is voluntary.
